SKIN AGING

Skin aging is a natural process that comes with age, essentially due to a decrease in the production of collagen, the main component responsible for supporting and maintaining the skin's elasticity. Collagen production begins to decrease gradually, starting at about 25. The skin becomes more dehydrated and loses elasticity due to the lack of water and lipids naturally present. This translates into wrinkles, flaccidity and, often, skin blemishes. That is why taking care of the skin should be a priority.

THE IMPORTANCE OF FACIAL CARE

Our face is exposed to external factors on a daily basis. For this reason, it is more vulnerable and requires extra attention. It is essential to follow a daily and weekly routine of cosmetic treatments on the face, so that the skin is kept properly balanced, hydrated and protected. This will prevent premature aging and reduce the signs of age that are already present.

NUTRICODE AND HEALTH & BEAUTY

We age when our cells lose their ability to regenerate. The damage caused by free radicals cannot be avoided, but it can be minimized. How? With the antioxidant action that the ingredients of the Collabeauty and Hyaluronic Acid supplements have. In addition to having an antioxidant effect, they are also a source of collagen and hyaluronic acid. Collagen gives firmness and support to the skin, while hyaluronic acid improves hydration and fills wrinkles in. As we age, we naturally lose tissue density, and collagen loss causes the skin to become flaccid. Supplementation is an effective way to minimize this.
